Oliver Duggins, youngest son of Rev. and Mrs. O. H. Duggins, was taken by his mother to the children's ward in the Barnes hospital in St. Louis last week for treatment for an injured foot. Reports received Wednesday regarding his condition were not so favorable as were expected, causing the family considerable uneasiness. But Oliver will doubtless soon be returned home entirely recovered from his injury.

H. B. Presnell, the live wire from Libertyville, was a pleasing caller at The Times office yesterday morning. He said the Democrats of that community were boiling over with party enthusiasm, and says that precinct can be depended upon to do its full part for Democracy on Nov. 2nd. He says there are five old ladies there, whose ages will average 80 years, all of whom are determined to vote, and that they will vote right.

Fr. J. A. Collins, who several years ago was transferred from the Catholic church in Farmington to Richmond Heights, St. Louis, after having served as pastor here for a number of years, was recently transferred to the Visitation Church, one of the largest in St. Louis. While on this charge Fr. Collins built the present Catholic church in this city, also the church at Doe Run, and is well remembered by old citizens as an untiring and conscientious church worker.

Miss Etta Bailey and brother, F. J. Bailey, of Danby, Jefferson county, and James Bailey, of Festus, spent Monday with their uncle, J. P. Jennings. James Bailey is a foreman in the great glass works at Crystal City, while F. J. Bailey owns an up-to-date dairy in his home town. He talks most entertainingly and enthusiastically of improved methods of dairying, one of his favorite themes being hearty endorsement of a recently patented milking machine, by which milk from four cows is drawn at the same time, in a speedy and satisfactory manner.

Among the many out-of-town visitors in attendance at the Andrew Ponder recital were: Misses Myrtene Ennes, Schykeanah Wentzel, Edith Counts, Nellie Marberry, Paul Papin, Ervin Green, Roy Goveaux, Harry Ward and Lawrence Cross, of Desloge; Rev. and Mrs. J. MCDOWELL CHILDREN REUNION SUNDAY

The children of Wm. McDowell, deceased, will hold a reunion at Knob Lick next Sunday, on the school house grounds. There are eight children in this family, all of whom are still living. A basket dinner will be served, and a general good time is expected. All relatives and friends of the family are extended a cordial invitation to attend and enjoy the festivities. Everyone should bring their basket, however, as it would be impossible to estimate the number that will be present.

The oldest child of this family is Mrs. C. L. Nixon, who spends part of the year in Cincinnati, Ohio, and the remainder with her daughter, Mrs. J. D. Smith, in Gofftown, this county. Two other children are Mrs. Ida Eichor and Mrs. W. A. Cloud. The other children still reside in this immediate vicinity. The youngest child is past 50 years old. A long-lived family.

First M. E. Church.

W. S. Courtney, Pastor.

Next Sunday, at 10:45 the subject will be "Good Literature"; in the evening, 7:30, "How Joe Got Out of Jail." The other Sunday services as usual. You are very cordially invited to all our services.

Lutheran Church.

H. Hallberg, Pastor.

Twenty-first Sunday after Trinity. Sunday School at 9:30 a. m. Preaching service at 10:30 a. m. Jesus said: "Blessed are they that hear the Word of God and keep it."

RECEPTION TO REV. C. P. THORMORTON.

The members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, last Tuesday evening gave a reception to their newly assigned pastor, Rev. C. P. Thormorton and his wife, in the church basement, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion with varicolored streamers, cut and potted flowers, all brilliantly illuminated. An animated throng of 250 to 300 greeted their new pastor with a cordiality and Christian fellowship that must have cheered his heart and made him and his good wife feel that they were at home among kindred spirits. Fruit punch and wafers were served and the time was spent in delightful social intercourse and friendly mingling that was a foretaste of "sweet by-and-by" joys.

A pretty feature of the reception was the presentation of a Bible to Luther H. Williams, Superintendent, and a fountain pen to Will Overall, Secretary, of the Southern Methodist Sunday School, for long and faithful service. Mr. Williams has been Superintendent of the school for about fifteen years, and Mr. Overall Secretary for nearly the same length of time. The school has grown and prospered under their administration until its average attendance is near the 200 mark, but last Sunday, Sunday School rallying day, it scored the banner attendance in our town, the number present being 420.

We unite with, we are sure, all of the people of our town in extending a cordial welcome and greeting to Rev. Thormorton and his family, with the wish that his labors among us may bear much good fruit and that their stay among us may be as delightful as our welcome to them is sincere.

TO SPEAK UNDER AUSPICES OF NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE

Benj. H. Marbury left for Oklahoma and Kansas yesterday, where he is scheduled to make two or three speeches under the auspices of the National Democratic Committee. Mr. Marbury is one of the most fluent and forceful speakers in the State, as well as one of the best informed on all the principal issues involved in the present political campaign, which he presents in a clear, understandable and convincing way. This recognition of Mr. Marbury by the National Democratic Committee as one worthy and able to carry the message of Democracy to the people is appreciated by his friends, and they are confident that he will add fresh laurels to his reputation as an orator and clear thinker.

MRS. F. L. LITTLEFIELD

A Democratic speaker of note, will address the people at the Court House in Farmington Tuesday, October 26, at 7:30 o'clock p. m. She will also deliver the principal address at the County Candidates' meeting in Bonne Terre Monday evening, Oct. 25, 7:30 o'clock, and will speak at Flat River Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 26, at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Littlefield comes to this county under the auspices of the State Democratic Committee. She is a most estimable lady and a charming speaker. It is to be hoped that the ladies of the county will exert themselves to hear her at one of the three points at which she is to speak, and especially would we suggest that the ladies of Farmington and vicinity and our Democratic Glee Chorus give her a rousing and warm reception when she speaks here Tuesday, Oct. 26, at 7:30 p. m. Keep the dates and time in mind.

FARMINGTON MILLING CO.

At the head of the elements constituting the general prosperity of Farmington and the hope of its future greatness must be placed the manufacturing interests. This is especially true of an enterprise that tends to improve the local market and manufactures a commodity, the local sale of which tends to reduce the cost of living. One of our largest and most important manufacturing enterprises is the Farmington Milling Company. This business has been established here since 1882. They manufacture flour, cornmeal and feed; are in a position to handle all the wheat and corn the agricultural section will produce and certainly do their share in supplying not only the immediate trade radius but many distant localities with good flour and meal. Perhaps every household in the section is familiar with their "Golden Rod" and "Farmico" flour. The "Farmico" is a self-rising flour and has grown very popular.

They have a mill, an elevator and wheat houses with a storage capacity of about eight cars. They employ from fifteen to twenty people and have a flour output capacity of about 150 barrels a day.

The family operating the business is one of the oldest and best known. John Giessing is president; P. D. Giessing, vice president and treasurer, and C. H. Giessing, secretary.

ANDREW PONDER SCORED TRIUMPH IN GRADUATION RECITAL

A large and appreciative audience greeted Andrew Ponder, of Bonne Terre, last Thursday night at the Farmington High School on the event of his graduation recital—which proved to be a great musical success.

His playing of the Mendelssohn Concerto, a 30 minute composition full of dash and pathos requiring brilliant technique and mature musicianship, was superb.

Mr. Ponder, though but 15 years of age, measured up to every demand of his program, and his fiery technique, good tone and wealth of expression revealed him as a real artist.

Miss Florence Nelms, of Bonne Terre, played the accompaniments in a manner that distinguished her, in that difficult role, as a pianist of high rank and a gifted accompanist.

Supt. W. L. Johns made a very fitting address. He paid a high tribute to the Schubert School of Music and its great work in this community, and presented to Mr. Ponder the first diploma awarded by this school.
